Siberian Roe Deer

August - September

Siberian roe deer hunting is done to the North of Kazakhstan below the Russian border, in the area of the city of Kustanaj. It is an enormous area consisting of over a million square km, an infinite steppe with small woods alternated with fields and pastures. Roe deers live in the woods and come into the open in the morning and in the evening, when they are hunted by waiting or by stalking by car while during the day driven hunts are done while the hunters wait for the animals that cross the clearings between the woods.

Accommodation is in yurts or private houses if the hunt is done near villages.
