Ibexes

October – April

Ibexes in the Spanish mountains are the most valuable animals of the Iberian fauna. There are four different officially acknowledged species: Gredos, Bezeite, Sierra Nevada and Ronda Ibex, which differ in form and horn length from one another.

The Mounts of Gredos are situated at about 150 km from Madrid and represent an ideal habitat for the goat of Gredos, the National park of Bezeite with adjacent reserves is situated to the East of Spain between Barcelona and Valencia, the Sierra mountains are in the South-East of Spain, between Almeria and Malaga, while the smallest subspecies lives in the Mounts of Ronda to the South of Spain.

Thanks to the many years of a good relationship with the owners of the reserves, we have obtained excellent hunting conditions for all the subspecies and are glad to be able to offer them to you herewith.
